GRANT SCHOOL

Class Work Will Be Resumed Tomorrow Morning, Says Superintendent

The Grant school building is scene of busy activity today, where, under the direction of superintendent of buildings, Charles A. Marriott, and Principal Henry Barker, workers are cleaning up the class rooms in preparation for the opening of school tomor-

"None of the youngsters will like the news,"said W. Kari Hopkins, superintendent of the city school system this morning, "and some of the teachers wont be just tickled to death, but we are happy to think that the fire department got on the job so quickly that the damage, though extensive enough, is not so great but that we can tackle it and have the place clean enough to open work again tomerrow

Mr. Hopkins said that the heat generated by the fire had been so intense that it had broken the thermometers in many of the rooms, and burst the transoms open. "That was great heat when you remember that the thermometers register 130 degrees. I cannot speak too highly of the prompt and efficient work of the tire department," concluded Mr. Hopkins.

OGDEN DOCTOR GETS STATE JUB

Dr. A. A. Robinson Selected to Direct State Health Campaign

Dr. A. A. Robinson of this city has been selected to direct the work of the state health campaign which is be-ing conducted in connection with the federal health authorities, announced Dr. T. B. Beatty, state health commissioner, yesterday.

Dr. Robinson is today visiting with Salt Lake authorities on the work of his department and announces that the new office to which he is appointed will not in any sense call for his removal from Ogden, where he will continue his private practice as for-the Globe Grain & Milling company prove successful, the building of a community consisting entirely of workers at the Globe mills will be virtually assured, according to announcements made today by Manager Barnhart, Shifting sands in the vicinity of the mill make that location undesirable at present for housing purposes, the loose sands drifting into houses whenever the wind blows, it is said.

To cope with this condition, an effort will be made to plant the grounds surrounding the mili with white clover, alfalia, field peas and oats. If this crop proves successful and succeeds in taking root in the sand, grass will be planted next season.

The idea of the experiment is to have plants that grow quickly planted first, with slower growing grass and lawn as the succeeding crop. By this means it is thought that the wind-blown sand feature of that vicinity will be removed.

Negotiations for suitable seed are now under way, and the planting of experimental plots will take place in the near future, it is stated. Present plans indicate that a plot of each variety of seed will be planted. Another plot will be planted with a mixture of seeas. By means of the results achieved in various plots, an idea of which plant is most suitable for holding the sand will be determined, it is stated.

The cement distributing tower which has been in operation for the construction of the warehouse, elevators and other buildings at the Globe site, has been moved to point where it will be used for he construction of the flour mill. Work on this unit is expected to start about May 1.

Work has progressed on the office building, this unit being completed but for the terra cotta surfacing and other finishing
